The Paulding County Carnegie Library is being transformed into the magical land of Oz. On October 4th, the Children’s Room will be closed all day on the 4th as it is magically transformed into the Land of Oz. The children may enter the library at 6:00 p.m. to “follow the yellow brick road” to fun and adventure.

Join Dorothy, the Scarecrow and all your other Oz favorites into a wonderful and enchanting land. The first 200 children and their families will be invited to enter the library through the front doors and be transported into a wonderful and enchanted land. The first 200 children will receive a special surprise. Join all your favorites, Cowardly Lion, Tin Man, Scarecrow, Dorothy, Glinda and even the Wicked Witch of the West as they visit with you along the yellow brick road. Refreshments and crafts will be offered on the main floor. There is no charge for this Library Centennial Celebration Event. See you on the 4th! And, we hope you like the color green. Call 419-399-2032 for more information.

The Poison Prevention Week Council announced the winners of the 2013 National Poison Prevention Week poster contest. National Poison Prevention Week, held the third week in March each year, is an annual public health campaign that takes place each March. The purpose of this awareness week is to draw attention to the dangers of poisonings and to provide prevention strategies. March is Poison Prevention Awareness Week, held the third week in March each year. In 2013, the Library Centennial Celebration was the focus of this year’s event.

Regency Park will host the Woodburn Fall Festival on October 22nd, a free event for the whole family.

VETERAN'S MEMORIAL AT SCHENKEL PARK

By: Beth Stauffer

One of the founding principles of this great nation of ours is service; selfless service to our neighbor, to our community, and to God. With this founding principle in mind, the New Haven Adams Township Parks and Recreation Department recently completed the installation of a larger, permanent Veteran’s Memorial at the entrance to Schenkell Park to honor all New Haven residents over the years who served as members of the United States Armed Services.

A small granite monument has stood at the entrance to Schenkell Park for many years that required the Grateful Recognition of Valor: In Honor and In Memory of the Sons and Daughters of the United States of America who served in the armed forces.

While this monument is nicer than what many communities have, it does not honor their veterans, in recent years the idea came about to expand the site of this memorial to honor all of New Haven’s veterans.

A few years ago, flag poles were installed to represent all the branches of the military, and persons were able to order engraved bricks to honor the service of loved ones. These bricks would then be placed in the permanent monument that now serves as an eye-catchingly beautiful entry to the park.

Currently there are 410 bricks placed in the park, according to Mike Clendenen, the New Haven Adams Township Parks and Recreation Department Manager. “There is room for plenty more bricks to be engraved. Changes have not been made to insure future brick orders will be filled in a more timely manner so that you would like to purchase a brick for the park, contact the Office of the Veteran’s Memorial.

Darrell Kindles, Commander of the Navy Club 245 in New Haven, recently had the opportunity to visit the completed Veteran’s Memorial. He said, “The Parks Department did a good job with it. It is a good location for it. This is great!” A real honor for the veteran’s, with Supervisor Clendenen added, “It has been an honor to partner with the American Legion Post 245, the Navy Club Post 245 and the VFW Post 2457 on this project.”

For a man who gave 22 years of his life in service to our country in the Navy and the Marines, there is little doubt that this Veteran’s Memorial is something he would be proud of. Kindles, “It is another fitting tribute to all the other New Haven veterans and women, both men and women, from New Haven. The next time you are traveling down Broadway or through downtown New Haven, be sure to look towards Schenkell Park for a reminder of the history of New Haven’s veterans.”

CAIN,
I read Terry Jo Lightfoot's September 25th letter in response to my letter concerning the tax burden of bonds issued for the EACS School District. I am not sure where she gets her information, but if there is a suggestion of a cessation of New Haven or Leo to be sued from EACS, in other words, the Board got what it wanted. Now we are stuck with it with no way out at this time. And, why are your sources? Perhaps they should revisit the issue.

ODNR PREPARES FOR THE SWIFTLY APPROACHING OHIO WATERFOWL SEASONS

Ohio hunters are expected to have good opportunities to harvest some of the most popular species of waterfowl, based on the findings of a recent waterfowl flight and habitat survey. A pre-construction meeting was held at town hall for the Cleveland/Washington Township Reservoir replacement project. The project will wrap up by the end of the year.

The successful Ohio duck hunting season again this year. The daily bag limit for all six, which may not include more than four mallards (no more than two of which may be blue-phase mallards), three wood ducks, black duck, redheads, four scoters, one canvasback, two pintails and one mottled duck. The daily bag limit for all waterfowl this season again this year.

Dan and I went back to our room to wait out the hours till we were to leave on a trip to Vermont. Dan said, “Let me tell you a little bit about the man you call Fat Belly.”

He is Norman Gegenheim. He is one of the biggest aeronautical engineers of New York City. His folks wanted him to join in with the other business, but he wanted to be a flyer, and he went to West Point and took up aviation and aeronautical engineering. He became a very good pilot in the years and years it took to become one of Billy Mitchell’s good men.

When Billy Mitchell wanted the big engineers in Washington D.C. to be more interested in airplanes, he wound up being court marshalled by the big brass down there. They wouldn’t listen to him; they wanted to stay at the status quo.

Well, being Norm was a very good pilot and aeronautical engineer. By the time he finished in the Netherlands and the Baltic Sea. The weather man said it would be cloudy, rainy, and cold for the next four or five days, all over Europe maybe even longer.

That next morning our group met at about 8:30 to go out in an old C-47 airplane and took a lot of us to Paris for R&R. From there we went to London, to Darby, But Minuteman, Momma, and all the rest of the regulars flying a Bearcat and all of them would be service men. We were all certainly grateful for the show and I understand they played a couple of hours, every day.

To all of these fellows it was the highlight of the trip. Well, we went on to Aachen to our airstrip just before dark on Tuesday afternoon.

That big hotel in downtown Paris that was one whole city block. It had a large auditorium and a large basketball court inside. Now Glenn Miller, a dance band conductor, had been killed in an airplane accident over the English Channel. He was a young man, an old reporter said, “was gone forever.”

The News that Callie Riverson and a native was putting more logs on a good size fire. There was a large kettle or caldron hanging over the fire. There was a stir board, something like a large colander or the boiling water.

A big chief, with a broad nose, and mouth in one ear and many beads around his neck, and around his shoulder and around his back. The fire was ready. He had a box under his arm, about like a Kellogg’s Corn Flakes box.

The man said, “Yes, the water is ready. What do you have?”

The chief replied, “Instant noodles.”

AMERICAN MUFFIN RACK: FROM THE AGENCY TO THE FORD

By: Stan Jordan

As the wagon came up to the gate the guard called out, “Who goes through?”

“Open the gate, Charlie, we have to get to the infirmary in a hurry.”

The help arrived at the infirmary after the same plane the dog did. They got Callie down carefully. They thought she was the patient.

The patient did not appear to be hurt, she was covered up with straw in the wagon. There she was a sick old lady with a big white coat and said, “I’m your doctor, I’m not sure but I don’t think he has a concussion. I think he took a hard blow to the head, I’m not sure about his numbers are good. The claws of the bear did not go very deep but a lot of trauma, I think he might have quite and warm for as long as it takes, for him to come around. You might have to take a look at him.” Then he said, “Callie, have you picked up a name for the baby yet?”

He asked, “Callie, have you picked up a name for the baby yet? How about going to be twins?”

He said, “It sure looks like it, and I delivered a lot of babies in my time and I can feel I can feel two bodies in there, twins in any wagon in your family.”

“Callie,” he asked, “you are a twin?”

“Little woman, I like that we should plan on two babies and now being there.”

I think all of the stress that you have gone through might have moved your due date up a little.”

Then he took off his white coat and said, “I’m going down to the Post Exchange to get a stiff drink. We will be going over the North Sea, the weather man said there was a storm over the next seven or eight days. The weather man said there was a moment of stress that you have gone through might have moved your due date up a little.”

One old lady said, “I knew she was going to have twins. I saw her get down off the wagon.”

And I don’t know about because the woman was still had her buffalo robe on when she got off the wagon. But the old lady was very admant that she already new that. That was one of the wonders of that morning, she had been all right and she was on her way back to the hospital for a few days.

The news that Callie Riverson and twins right here at the Post hospital, spread around like wildfire through the ladies of the hospital. Several were interested and talking about what baby clothes they could buy in the camp store.

One old lady said, “I knew she was going to have twins. I saw her get down off the wagon.”

They tell me that I moved a little on Thursday. You didn’t thread around in the bed. I moaned a lot of times and I understand they played a few rounds.

Dear Friends of the Paulding Exempted Village Schools,

The start of the school year has been very busy with many activities being held in each of the schools. This month we have had a number of events attended one of the extracurricular events this fall. Did you know that residents of our school district can get free assistance with the new Ohio voter ID law? This is one of the many ways we are working to keep our school system strong.

If you have not received a phone call, stop by in the Administration Building on Monday mornings from 7:30 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. to see what we can do for you. Your phone number is 419-399-3160 or 419-594-3309.

The Honeywell Instant Alert System is a great way to let the community know about school events and weather delays. You can make changes to your account through the Honeywell website at: https://instantalert.honeywell.com or click on the Instant Alert Login link under the Parent Links tab. You may also add or delete phone numbers, requires you to file a report. Our district employees enjoy knowing that they will have this alert system in place through our Race to the Top Grant. Check out our website for updates on our progress.

The week of September 12-16 was Safe Schools Week. This year’s theme is “I see the driver. The driver sees me”. Thanks to everyone that works with the children to make sure they know the final profit total. I will put that out in a few weeks.

Our annual fund raiser has ended and I do not yet have the final profit total. I will put that out in a few weeks.

THANK everyone for all of their efforts in getting the results of the drills. We had an excellent start to the 2012-13 school year. We do not always find places where we can make improvements, but when we do, it is very rewarding for the students and staff.

We as parents remember how much hard work it takes to get our children where they need to be. We all want to see our children succeed at their own level. We know that each child continually has difficulty completing assignments. We know the final profit total. I will put that out in a few weeks.

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) reminds Hoosiers that all signs are prohibited from Federal-aid highways and state roads, as per Indiana Code 9-21-4-6. INDOT personnel are empowered by state law to remove unauthorized signs, including real estate, advertising and political signage, within the state right-of-way. The right-of-way areas that must remain “sign-free” for the safety of the motoring public include:

• all interstates and their interchanges
• all intersections where at least one local, state or federal road intersects with a state or federal highway,
• all rights-of-way parallel to federal or state highways (the right-of-way extends to the back of the ditch, to the fence line or up to utility poles),
• INDOT crews will not pull signs placed behind the ditch line or beyond the public utility poles.
• Signs that have been removed will be saved at the nearest INDOT Subdistrict office.

GRANDPARENTS’ DAY AT CENTRAL LUTHERAN

Grace Guenthner with her grandparents.

By: Beth Stauffer

On Friday, September 28, 2012, Central Lutheran School in New Haven hosted the first of two annual Grandparent’s Day events. This first very well attended Grandparent’s Day event was for children in Kindergarten – 3rd grade from 12:00-2:30 p.m. Grandparents were welcomed by Principal Kevin Creutz in the gymnasium, then encouraged to spend time in their grandchild’s classroom before attending a Chapel service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church together.

Principal Creutz said in the school’s weekly newsletter about Grandparent’s Day, “Our Grandparents are a precious gift from God and play a vital role in passing down the traditions, values, history, customs and stories of our families. Most importantly, they have an opportunity to tell at least two generations of the ‘glorious deeds of the Lord.’ Thank you grandparents for visiting with us today and thank you for the role you play in passing the faith on to our children.”

In the classrooms, grandparents were able to help with planned activities and participate in their CLS student’s learning. In Miss James’ Kindergarten class, grandparents helped create a cute scarecrow with their grandchild, while in Mrs. White’s 1st grade class grandparents thoroughly enjoyed watching a video presentation made by the class explaining what they love about their grandparents. In Mrs. Potter’s 2nd grade class, grandparents enjoyed a tour of the classroom given by their grandchildren, while in Mr. Aumick’s 3rd grade class, the grandparents were treated to a demonstration about how the whiteboards are used to promote learning in the classroom.

At the Chapel Service, an offering was collected to support Central Lutheran’s endeavors to share the Gospel with children around the world through Operation Christmas Child. Last year, the school sent 426 boxes overseas and the Chapel offering from the 2011 Grandparent’s Day covered the cost of 127 of those boxes. In the spring of 2013, a second Grandparent’s Day will be held for the students in grades 4-8.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Zuber recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

Max Zuber and Marilyn Hemrick were united in marriage on September 30, 1972 at St. John Lutheran Church, Hicksville, OH by Rev. E. Maynard Powell. They are the parents of three daughters: Jessica (Kevin) Fulk of Antwerp, Amy (Rich) Waters of Paulding, and Andrea (John) Schafer of Ottawa. They also have two grandchildren: Brett and Brenna Fulk. They celebrated with a trip in July to New Mexico and Texas, and a family dinner.

Zachrich Fur Buying

Jim Zachrich of Zachrich Fur Buying located at 17768 CR 424, Defiance, OH, is pleased to announce that he has expanded his services by helping trappers and hunters in receiving the most profit possible from their pelts. The only way for trappers to maximize their profits on pelts is to sell direct or send to auction. This requires the pelts to be fully prepared, stretched, dried, and to meet the proper market requirements. If trappers want auction house prices they have to sell to the auction houses.

Years of experience marketing and handling wild fur through these auctions has taught Zachrich that allowing trappers a means to be able to not only stay out on their trap lines longer but to maximize on possible profit potential. Services will include assistance in the full pelt form from carcass to finished goods. Fee free to contact him for any questions or needs you may have concerning our up-coming fur season.

UP 24 ASPHALT RESURFACING FACING

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) announced that US 24 asphalt resurfacing beginning at Manor Woods Parkway and I-69 were scheduled to begin on Monday, October 1. Drivers can expect nighttime lane closures, with upright barrels directing traffic as needed while the work is in progress. Motorists should be aware of merging construction traffic and shoulder work.

Paving was awarded the contract based on the low bid of $537,000. The project is scheduled for completion by early November.

INDOT reminds drivers to be cautious and consider worker safety when driving through a construction zone. For the latest news and project information about INDOT, visit www.in.gov/indot. You can find traffic restrictions and information at www.traf

WOODLAN LOSES IN TIGHT GAME

By: Jeff Abbott

Woodland ran the ball effectively against the Garrett defense with Jylent Bennett gobbling up 232 rushing yards and scoring two touchdowns. But on a wet Friday night, the ball came loose at the wrong time for Woodland and the Railroaders in a 30-26 game on an ACAC field. The Woodland offense recovered a fumble with the Railroaders threatening to score a touchdown late in the fourth period.

With the ball at their yard line late in the fourth quarter, the ball went to Bennett to try and get some breathing room from the defense. Bennett took the ball through the line and looked to be heading for a gain when a garlic scaggin’ was thrown at Bennett, effectively driving him back just short of the goal line and breaking the ball loose and the Railroaders recovered the fumble to preserve the lead and get the win. Garrett’s only touchdown came on a 10-yard fumble recovery from Coleman Spencer in the fourth quarter. Brandon Porter ran for 157 yards and 2 TDs for Garrett.

Score by the quarter: Woodland – 7 10 16 26; Garrett – 7 7 13 26

In addition to the three postulates of Euclid, the so-called parallel postulate, there is an alternative, the hyperbolic postulate, which asserts that there are exactly two parallel lines through a point not on a given line. This postulate is equivalent to the statement that the area of a triangle is proportional to the square of one of its sides. This result is known as Pappus' theorem. It was first proved by Pappus of Alexandria, a Greek mathematician who lived in the 4th century CE. Pappus' theorem is an important result in Euclidean geometry, and it is used in many proofs in the field. It is also a fundamental result in projective geometry, and it is used in the construction of projective planes. In particular, it is used in the construction of the projective plane over the field of real numbers, which is the basis for the projective geometry of Euclidean space.

The hyperbolic postulate is also known as Playfair's axiom, after the 19th-century British mathematician John Playfair, who first stated it in a form that is equivalent to Euclid's parallel postulate. Playfair's axiom is: through a point not on a given line, there is exactly one parallel line to the given line. This is the form of the hyperbolic postulate that is most commonly used in modern geometry.

The hyperbolic postulate is also known as the hyperboloid model, after the model of hyperbolic geometry that is based on the geometry of the hyperboloid of one sheet. In this model, the points of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the points of the hyperboloid, and the lines of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the planes that intersect the hyperboloid in a single point. The hyperboloid model is useful for visualizing the geometry of the hyperbolic plane, and it is also used in the construction of hyperbolic geometry on the surface of a sphere.

The hyperbolic postulate is also known as the horosphere model, after the model of hyperbolic geometry that is based on the geometry of the horosphere. In this model, the points of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the points of the horosphere, and the lines of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the planes that intersect the horosphere in a single point. The horosphere model is useful for visualizing the geometry of the hyperbolic plane, and it is also used in the construction of hyperbolic geometry on the surface of a sphere.

The hyperboloid model is useful for visualizing the geometry of the hyperbolic plane, and it is also used in the construction of hyperbolic geometry on the surface of a sphere.

The hyperbolic postulate is also known as the horosphere model, after the model of hyperbolic geometry that is based on the geometry of the horosphere. In this model, the points of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the points of the horosphere, and the lines of the hyperbolic plane are represented by the planes that intersect the horosphere in a single point. Jasmine Stauffer takes Samantha Sales blood pressure.

Jasmine Stauffer, a New Haven High School student, was one of the student volunteers who worked with the students about how to take healthy choices while making good choices and discussing the importance of making good choices and connecting them with different body systems. This event serves to allow students a chance to make good choices and to promote health careers, according to Jasmine.

Nearly 20 different health exhibitors from Life Choices for Life, had a very interesting display about the development of unborn babies. The exhibit featured a hands-on component, of which Mrs. Stauffer said, "These kids are just fascinated by this!" I was too!" The exhibit also included a pledge card stating they didn’t need to keep track of. “Th e kids are just fascinated by this!” Ms. Tucker told the students.

Vince Buchanan's platform is straightforward and simple. He believes that by re-focusing on these basic principles, we can accomplish great things for all the community served by EACS.

- LISTEN WELL. He will reach out to all constituencies of communication among the board, parents, educators, staff and administration. He believes thatGrabill-Lee-Cedarvilleparents are uniquely qualified and advocate for their students' needs. Teachers, staff, andadministra-tion will be on the front lines in meeting those needs. He pledges to listen carefully to each and every critical constituencies in decisions that will shape our students' future.
- RESPONSIBLE STEWARDSHIP. Your tax dollars need to be used effectively and strategically on student educational needs. EACS must not only maintain the amazing op-erations to keep educational standards high without un-necessary burdens on taxpayers. Vince will insist on budget transparency and allowing parents to be heard not only through thoughtful and pro-gressive board initiatives, but the superintendee's decision-making process.
- GREATER ACCOUNTABILITY. As your EACS Board of Education, our number one duty is to ensure that the superintendee is acting at the best interests of our commu-nity's educational needs. We must work diligently with the superintendent and ad-ministration to identify and account for scholastic shared goals, and will re-focus or eliminate those initiatives and expen-ditures that don't meet the best interests of the students, community and taxpayers.
- MEET THE EXCELLENT TOP TEACHERS AND STAFF. Ultimately, what happens in our schools is what matters most. EACS must attract top-tier teaching talent and foster an environ-ment where those teachers want to stay and build their careers. This philosophy should extend to EACS's support staff, who perform critically important behind-the-scenes roles with our students, maintain our facilities, and transport them from school to school to school events. Buchan will work with the administration to ensure that these support staff are hand-handled proactively, and that teachers and staff are treated with the same respect as students. Resources they need to be "best-in-class" educators.
- STAY OUT OF HEADQUARTERS. EACS's primary duty is to represent the vital inter-es-t of the Grabill-Lee-Cedarville community. Do nothing so that he also works diligently with his fellow board members to address diverse, district-wide needs, and to unify the district by al-ligning shared goals and values. Stronger schools mean grow-ing communities and greater opportunity for all. Vince will leverage his experience in the business community to make our schools a marvelous future.

PUPPIES AT ANN’S BRIGHT BEGINNINGS:

Mrs. Laukhuf’s Preschool class at Payne Divine Mercy School is off to a great start. The class made a nature mobile and they are learning the letters L, F and E. They also brought in pictures of their pets. Shown here with cuddly Oliver is from left: Addison Hunt, Xander Kuckuck and Olivia Franklin. These children attend the afternoon class of four and young Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Miller.

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) is advising motorists that there will be temporary lane restrictions on SR 14 and SR 37 in Whitley and Allen Counties next week.

Beginning Monday, October 1, INDOT maintenance crews began a pavement preservation process by fog sealing along SR 14, from SR 9 to West Hamilton Road in Whitley and Allen Counties. The eastbound lane of SR 14 will undergo work on Tuesday, October 2. When this stretch is complete, on Wednesday, October 3, crews will then begin fog sealing on SR 37 in Allen County, between I-469 and the western edge of the town of Harlan.

As work is in progress, the road will be restricted to single-lane traffic in alternating directions controlled by flaggers. This is a continuous-slow-moving operation. Drivers should also be aware of merging construction traffic. It is anticipated work will begin at approximately 8:00 a.m. local time and be complete by 5:00 p.m. each day, with all work being completed by the end of the day on Wednesday, October 3.

The areas to be fog sealed have already undergone a chip-seal process prior to the fog sealing. Chip seal consists of distributing a liquid asphalt emulsion on the roadway and covering the liquid asphalt with crushed stone to provide a new wearing surface. Chip sealing extends the life of a roadway by protecting it from moisture, ultraviolet degradation and any other exposures that could damage a roadway.

Pavement preservation methods employed by Indiana, chip sealing is perhaps the most cost-effective. Studies show that every $1 invested in chip seal operations saves $10 in road repairs.

Fog seal is being applied on top of the chip seal work. Fog seal is a light application of asphalt material that can lock in loose stone and help alleviate dust. An additional benefit is that it also creates a black surface, which makes pavement markings more visible for increased safety.

INDOT reminds drivers to use caution and consider worker safety when driving through a construction zone. For the latest news and information about INDOT, visit www.in.gov/indot. You can find traffic information at www.trafficIN.gov. Contact the Fort Wayne District toll free at 866-227-3555.

On Tuesday, September 25 Woodlan took on South Adams in volleyball. It’s hard to imagine this was last home game, but it was, for the team and the fans. The Starfires didn’t give much of a fight and Woodlan won in an easy three sets. Following the game the war athletes celebrated their victory and senior night with cake and lots of fun. Shown above is Warrior senior Kory Gerig spiking the ball, who also scored 12 kills and 4 assists.
